Down but Not Out

'Jolly Good Reason' For Queen to Visit

She Loves It Here In Victoria

By DAVID FRANCIS

British Columbia's centenary "would be a "jolly good reason" for Queen Elizabeth to visit the province next year, according to her uncle, Hon. David Bowes-Lyon, a visitor at Government House for a few days.

"I have no doubt she would like to come," he continued. "She loves it here."

However, he was unable to confirm rumors that the Queen would visit the United States and Canada next year.

"I would certainly tell you if I knew," he said. "I would like to see her come. She could fly and be here in 24 hours."

Mr. Bowes-Lyon, who is brother to Queen Mother Elizabeth, greeted the press with a handshake and made sure reporters were comfortably seated before questioning began.

ANSWERED FREELY

He answered questions freely, even one about stories carried a few months ago in American newspapers speculating on a split between the Queen and Prince Philip.

"There was absolutely nothing to it," he said. "I have never seen a more devoted couple."

The Prince's absence was in the line of duty and planned long ahead, he pointed out.

Both the Queen and her husband missed each other, Mr. Bowes-Lyon said.

TIME OUT

Mr. Bowes-Lyon, with his wife, is visiting Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross for a few days, taking time out from a three-week business tour of Canada and the United States.

As a director of Cunard Lines, Mr. Bowes-Lyon is touring shipping offices on this continent "to make friends with all the people in the offices."

A large part of the company's business is on this continent, including the service provided by four new ships running between Canada and Great Britain, he said.

HON. DAVID BOWES-LYON

He's a Pensioner, U.K. Told

Eden Can't Afford Huge Medical Bill

LONDON (AP)—A Daily Mail columnist says former prime minister Eden can ill afford the medical treatment he is taking in Boston, and the British government should pay the bill.

A columnist writes:

"Sir Anthony Eden slept restlessly last night in a modest Boston hospital room which is costing him £10 a day.

"And the unnecessary words in that sentence are—'costing him.'

"Sir Anthony—a man of modest means by the standards he sets himself—is paying all his own medical expenses . . .

NEVER CHEAP

"Illness in America is never an economic affair at any time.

"But Sir Anthony's surgeon, Richard Cattell, is one of the highest paid doctors in America.

"His fee could reach between £300 and £750.

"If Sir Anthony is able to leave Boston as soon as was hoped, his medical bill and living expenses could reach £2,500.

Sir Anthony has little capital of his own.

"His pension as ex-prime minister is £2,000 a year.

"Lady Eden has a private income under £500 a year.

"MONSTROUS"

"It seems monstrous to me that the man Britain lauded into its highest office—now suffering an illness of extreme pain—should have to be concerned about money.

"I suggest his private budget is one that must now concern Mr. Macmillan, the man who replaced him.

"The government—Britain if you like—should pay Sir Anthony's hospital bills."

Badly Hurt

In critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital last night with head cuts and chest, shoulder and arm injuries received yesterday in a two-car collision on Craigflower Road is Father J. P. Le Sann, 73, of 930 Collinson. (See story on page 13).

V for Victory

Half of Paris Lines Seine For Queen

PARIS (Reuters) — One million persons — almost half the population of Paris —flocked Tuesday night to the banks of the Seine to watch Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip sail past in a royal white launch.

At one point the Queen was so obviously thrilled by the pageantry and the crowds along the river that she lifted her hand in a Churchill V for victory sign.

The bells of Notre Dame—its twin towers ablaze in golden light—pealed out over the city as the royal launch sailed by. Fireworks flared overhead—the biggest fireworks display Paris has staged since Queen Victoria visited the city.

The launch, the Borde Fretigny, was built by Seine shipowners because on Elizabeth's last visit to Paris, during her 1948 honeymoon, the city found it did not have a craft imposing enough for royal visitors.

GAY FLOTILLA

The launch was followed by a flotilla of small craft decked out with flags and bunting. The sides of the river were lined with open-air theatres, with actors and actresses depicting scenes from French history as the Queen passed by.

The Queen wore a slender gown of silver lace over silver lame fabric, embroidered with diamonds and crystals. Her jewels were all diamonds.

Over the dress, she wore a matching stole of embroidered lace bordered with white fox.

The only blaze of deep color was the sash of the Legion of Honor which cut a diagonal bright red streak across her dress.

Doctors Flee Irate Crowd

PALERMO, Sicily (UP)—Angry relatives and friends of a woman who died during childbirth stormed the Palermo hospital yesterday in an attempt to lynch the doctors.

The two doctors narrowly escaped through a window and drove away so fast their car crashed into a sidewalk. The two doctors jumped out unhurt and continued their flight on foot.

Vaccine Available Privately

Ample Salk anti-polio vaccine is now available to doctors for the private inoculation of their patients in Victoria, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria - Esquimalt medical health officer, said yesterday.

'No More Alibis'

Cut Down Crime Rate —Or Else—Police Told

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Vancouver police commission was told yesterday to cut down the city's mushrooming crime rate — or else.

The ultimatum was given the commission by Ald. George Miller as the commission got all the money it asked for under the city's new 1957 budget.

The commission will get almost $5,000,000 this year, $360,000 more than last year.

Miller told council he had warned the commission:

"We're giving you what you're asking for and now we want results. No more alibis."

Council has been worried by the growing crime wave this year, with more than 100 crimes of violence since Jan. 1.

Wrong Man

Innocent Bus Boy Freed

NORFOLK, Mass. (AP)—Santos Rodiguez, 26, Puerto Rican busboy, was released from prison Tuesday night, two hours after the Massachusetts executive council granted him "full and complete pardon" for the murder another man has confessed.

Rodriguez said he was "not angry" at the state for imprisoning him for 3½ years, but charged he was forced by police to write a confession.

Man Shot In Melee

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—Paul Laboucane, shot through the abdomen by a police gun when police arrested a group following a disturbance in a Fort St. John cafe, is reported to be in grave condition in hospital in Edmonton.

Two of the group arrested have been fined $200 each for resisting an officer. No charges have been laid against Laboucane.

Noon Is Deadline To Share Flowers

Victoria residents wishing to bring cheer to shut-ins have until noon today to phone the Colonist at 3-4111 to donate spare flowers from their gardens to the Share the Flowers plan.

The flowers will be picked up by volunteer drivers Thursday morning between 9.30 and 11.30 and delivered to shut-ins during the lunch hour. Those wishing to deliver their own flowers should take them to the collection point at the Colonist Broad Street office before 11.30 a.m. Thursday.

Here's Howe, Anyway As Vodka Flows Free

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe sipped vodka with Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin Tuesday night as the Russians threw open their doors to a throng of some 600 at the official opening of a spanking new $500,000 embassy.

Conversation between East and West was light and friendly and the vodka flowed quickly. In fact it flowed so fast that it ran out before the two-hour party was over.

But while the house-warming was billed as one of the big social events of the season, it somehow fell short of that. Outside of Mr. Howe, there were no other representatives of the cabinet present and only a scattering of top-drawer Western diplomats.

Of the big three, United States, Britain and France, only the French ambassador, Francis Lacoste, showed up. Prime Minister St. Laurent sent Mr. Chuvahin what was reported as a warm personal letter of congratulations on the opening of the three-storey limestone structure. But he himself did not attend.

Mr. Chuvahin, fresh from a Soviet holiday, was in great spirits. He said later he thought the affair was a splendid success.

The embassy, a rather austere, square-looking structure, was built on the ashes of one that was destroyed in a New Year's Eve fire 16 months ago.

Too Many City Children Get Lifts

Make Them Walk to School!

Far too many children ride to school in cars and buses, health board members and physical education leaders agreed yesterday at a meeting of the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

George Grant, physical education supervisor of the Greater Victoria school district, and Fred Martens reported to the board on results of Kraus-Weber tests recently completed among Greater Victoria school children.

Of the children tested, mostly at the junior high school level, 39.2 per cent failed one or more of the six tests of muscular ability needed in normal living, compared with 56.6 per cent in the eastern United States and only 8.2 per cent in Austria, Italy and Switzerland.

The results, Mr. Grant said, didn't prove that Victoria children hadn't endurance or were not generally fit.

"Do the children in Europe start physical education earlier?" asked health board chairman G. K. Sammon.

No, said Mr. Grant, many of the children tested in Europe had received no physical education in school.

"They do a lot of walking," Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson said.

Mr. Grant agreed that fitness of the European children probably stemmed from "running, walking, climbing and playing without the machines we have here."

"Far too many of our children ride to school," said Ald. Wilson.

"They won't walk," said Mr. Grant, and lots of parents couldn't or wouldn't make them walk. The implication, he said, was that much could be done outside of school to keep children fit—and adults, too.

"The farthest many people walk after supper is to the TV set and then to bed," observed Mr. Sammon.

As a result of the report, the board agreed that stress should be laid, in the public health education program, on the need for exercise, and Mr. Grant indicated he would consider recommending extension of calisthenics in schools.

St. Laurent Visits Victoria Next Month

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will visit Victoria early in May during the course of a nation-wide pre-election campaign, Forrest L. Shaw, president of the Victoria Liberal Association said last night.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

SMALL nations may soon be able to make atomic bombs. According to a Stockholm report, Sweden may have the bomb in six years, Israel in 10, Egypt in 20.

Then what? Any pipsqueak tyrant may get up with a hangover and kill half the people of the world before breakfast.

Some future prince of Monaco could blow up Britain in a fit of pique when the Queen declined a wedding invitation. Dominica might scorch Canada into a nuclear desert because our ambassador hiccoughed at the wrong time.

If this report is true, we had better brace ourselves for "a [illegible] of once a year. The world will become a larger counterpart of the old West, as shown in cowboy films, when each little guy had an equalizer that would cut down an enemy twice his weight.

Slow on the Draw

A decade hence, entire nations may be buried in a kind of nuclear Boot Hill because they were too slow on the draw.

Gun law might have been all right in horse opera days, when only a dozen or so human beings were liquidated at one time.

But surely it is a luxury we cannot afford now, when the number of victims may run into the millions. In cowboy movies, if not in real life, the Lone Ranger or Sheriff Tex or some other clean-cut hero rode out of the West in time to forestall the worst of the carnage.

The good guys of the international scene are not as nimble or as true-blue as the good guys of the old West. They have a way of tripping over their own feet. Or half-way through the action, the hero turns out to be the villain, and shoots down everyone in sight, including women and children.

When every little nation gets an atomic gun, the United Nations Sheriff's posse will no longer be good enough. We'll need a police force that has power all over the world.

After boosting his TV quiz winnings to $160,000 last night, Robert Strom, 10, wonders if he will go for the $256,000 it is possible to win. Strom won another $32,000 on "The $64,000 Question" to surge ahead of Teddy Nadler, of St. Louis, who has reached $152,000.—(AP Photofax)

Suicide and Security

Canada Doubts U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials indicated Tuesday that changes may be made in arrangements between Canada and the United States for exchange of security information.

One authority said these arrangements now are under review by an interdepartmental committee representing all the Canadian government agencies involved.

The review stems from the suicide last week in Cairo of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt against whom the U.S. Senate subcommittee on internal security recently revived charges of past Communist associations.

External Affairs Minister Pearson plans to make a statement on this matter in the Commons today. All he said Tuesday was:

"It is a complicated matter as well as a tragic one because the statement will deal not only with a certain tragic experience (Mr. Norman's death) but with relations between the two governments in the field of security."

Soon after he made this comment in the Commons, Mr. Pearson, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Trade Minister Howe attended with some 300 other persons a memorial service for Mr. Norman in Chalmers United Church here. They all wore black ties.

Rev. A. Leonard Griffith, pastor of Chalmers United, said:

"It is surely one of life's bitter tragedies that so sensitive and lovable a personality should be pressured and beaten by destructive forces, many of them evil and downright demoniac."

It was indicated here that Mr. Norman's suicide has raised the question whether there is risk that information exchanged confidentially between the two governments may become public through availability to U.S. congressional bodies.

'Pets Being Trapped'

League's Back Up

Members of Victoria Cats' Protection League have their backs up over the setting of cat traps in the Davie and Duchess Streets area.

"We are very perturbed about a situation where people's pets are peing trapped indiscriminately," Mrs. Helen Kerswell, a league spokesman, said last night. "We feel this is a most underhand and dishonest thing to do.

"The cats are enticed into the traps with food. The cats are not hurt when the trap shuts, but some are so panic-stricken they hurt themselves trying to get out."

Traps are set in the back yards of houses, Mrs. Kerswell said, and trapped cats are taken to the city pound, where they are kept for a few days and then destroyed if they are not claimed.

"We have had quite a lot of calls about this," Mrs. Kerswell said. "Anybody who has lost a cat should call the city pound and the Cats' Protection League."

Traps are lent to residents by the city pound, she said. Two cats, a grey part-Persian and a ginger cat have been caught so far.

Hayward's funeral home was banked with flowers yesterday for the funeral of Mrs. Dorothy Frances Duyvejonck, found slain last week in her home near Courtenay. The chapel was filled with friends and relatives of Mrs. Duyvejonck.

Number of Hungarian immigrants housed at the Victoria immigration building has dropped to 60, officer-in-charge, J. McDonald, said yesterday.

"The work position has eased up a bit," he said, "but things are still pretty slow. We are taking any jobs we can get for the Hungarian immigrants, but we could still do with more offers of employment."

Some employment offered was declined as unsuitable.

Four Trials Held In Short Session

Yesterday's was one of the shortest lists in weeks in city police court, but it covered four trials involving two men.

Frederick T. Doherty, 3925 Glanford, was found guilty of driving with inadequate brakes, and of driving without insurance. Trials centred around an accident, and ownership of the car which accused was intending to sell.

He was fined $15 on the first charge and $25 on the second.

Longest Trial Over

Jury Acquits Dr. Adams Of Murder

LONDON (Reuters)—The trial of Dr. John Bodkin Adams came to an end Tuesday when a jury of 10 men and two women acquitted him of a charge of murdering an elderly widow patient.

The portly, bespectacled doctor appeared flushed but impassive as the verdict in the 1950 death of 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell of Eastbourne was rejurned after 44 minutes of deliberation.

Justice Sir Patrick Devlin announced: "John Bodkin Adams, you now are discharged." Dr. Adams mumbled a "thank you" and bowed to the court.

Afterwards he stepped from the prisoner's dock from which he had watched the proceedings against him, walked through the halls of Old Bailey to a reception room and had lunch with his legal advisers.

LONGEST IN HISTORY

Thus ended in its 17th day the longest murder trial in British criminal history.

The trial also made a name for Dr. Adams' chief counsel, 50-year-old Geoffrey Lawrence, reported to have been paid the largest fee in English history for defending a man accused of murder—£10,000.

Lawrence won freedom for his client with the doubts he cast upon the Crown's arguments that Dr. Adams deliberately murdered elderly Mrs. Morrell in an attempt to benefit by her will.

VITAL RECORDS

The Crown charged that Dr. Adams injected into Mrs. Morrell all the drugs he prescribed for her but Lawrence produced vital notebooks, kept by the nurses in attendance during Mrs. Morrell's last days, which showed the amounts of drugs given to Mrs. Morrell.

Lawrence also accused the three nurses who gave evidence for the Crown of discussing the case together out of court. The judge said Monday that two of them had actually told "lies" about the drugs.

The biggest surprise of all occurred when Lawrence declined to put Dr. Adams in the witness box. He said the doctor already had suffered a period of "unbearable strain."

Attorney-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, who led the prosecution, announced that the Crown will not proceed with a further indictment against Dr. Adams—a charge of murdering another widow, 51-year-old Mrs. Gertrude Hullett, at Eastbourne last year.

Vancouver Court Told:

Will Found Under Counter —Wasn't There Before

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver real estate man testified Tuesday that the missing Thomson will was found under a counter in his office, after Gilbert Campbell had asked him to look there for it.

Richard Smith testified at the trial of Campbell, 51, [illegible] with a forged document, and attempting to defraud rightful heirs of James Thomson, hotel owner. Thomson died in December of 1949 and the paper first considered to be his will was declared a forgery.

The case is being conducted before Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan and a jury of 12. Campbell pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Smith said that in 1947, a mass of documents under the counter in his father's office was looked through. The document later found, purported to be the missing Thomson will, was not there at that time, Smith said.

But on Nov. 16, 1949, Smith said, he was visited by court registrar Leo Manendez and a solicitor. They went through parcels under the office counter and found a document which purported to be the Thomson will.

Forty per cent of Britain's imports in 1955 came from the sterling area.

Maggie Saluted On Way Home

HALIFAX (CP)—The aircraft carrier Magnificent, on loan to the Canadian Navy, left yesterday to be returned to the Royal Navy. Helicopters swirled over the 18,000-ton ship as she edged away from her jetty for the last time, and the aircraft she once carried flew by in a final salute.

Last Rites Today For Mrs. Whittier

Funeral services will be held today at 3.15 p.m. for Mrs. Amelia Whittier, 91, native of Victoria who died early Monday at the Gorge Road Hospital.

Resident of this city all her life, Mrs. Whittier was last surviving member of the Carne family, well known here at the close of the last century.

The family owned the Angel Hotel near the waterfront, celebrated as a "temperance" hotel in a wide-open era.

Mrs. Whittier, who was predeceased by her husband and one son, Douglas, founded the Aged Women's Home in 1898, and was secretary-treasurer of the home for 23 years prior to 1943.

She was also an active member of the IODE Navy League chapter, and one of the original members of Metropolitan United Church congregation.

Dr. F. E. H. James of that church will conduct funeral services, to be held at Hayward's. Burial will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WILLIAM WILLIAMS

Funeral services for William Williams, 86, will be held at 1.30 p.m. today.

Mr. Williams died Monday night in hospital. He lived at 1773 Lillian Road.

Born in Devon, England, in 1871, Mr. Williams came to Victoria in 1911 and opened Williams' Meat Market the same year. He retired in 1935 in favor of his son.

Mr. Williams was predeceased by his wife, Annie, in 1951. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. G. A. A. Hebden and Mrs. George Motion, and his son, Reginald George, all of Victoria.

Services at McCall's funeral home will be conducted by Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James. Burial will be at Royal Oak.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT

A well known resident of Victoria since 1911, William Davenport, 84, 2012 Oak Bay, died Monday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He is survived by two sons, Harry of Oak Bay, and William, 109 Wildwood; three grandsons and one great-grandson.

He was an active Mason, member of Henderson Lodge No. 84 AF & AM and for many years was verger of St. Mary's Church in Oak Bay.

Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunns will officiate at services to be held at Hayward's funeral home Saturday at 11 a.m. Burial will be at Royal Oak.

Trend to Gas Grows Here

Gas installations are increasing steadily and can be expected to increase in Victoria, city gas inspector E. Fredin says in a report to city council.

Mr. Fredin says there is a trend toward gas heating of downtown stores and commercial buildings, and that with natural gas expected to be piped to the Island within the next year and a half, a substantial increase in use of gas can be anticipated.

Aid for the Maritimes

MR. LESAGE'S announcement in the House of Commons yesterday of an intended start by the federal government on construction of thermal power plants in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is no doubt the beginning of the scheme which Mr. Harris outlined in his recent budget address. The Dominion would be willing to build steam generating plants to use Maritime coal, link the power transmission systems of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia together to reduce the cost of electricity and cede these works to the two provinces on their purchasing them over an amortized period. The intended power stations are the start of what has been described as an integrated program.

For some time past there has been Maritimes pressure on the St. Laurent regime from several sources. The four Atlantic provinces established their own conference last year to thresh out the economic and other disabilities they felt they were laboring under. Westbound freight rates, mentioned by Mr. Harris in his budget, were subsidized, but the subvention had not overcome the price discrepancies on the Atlantic seaboard nor helped shippers to central Canada. An increased freight subsidy was pledged in this year's budget. The chief objection of the Atlantic provinces was that federal fiscal and other policies which were building up Ontario and Quebec were doing so in part at the expense of Maritimes stagnation. The Gordon economic commission supported this claim, and added to the direct pressure on Ottawa to act.

Not only as a result of such on the spot inquiries, but also from the general circumstances it has been clear for some time that the Atlantic seaboard has not in fact been sharing in the general lift to the national economy. The resources were limited, markets far distant, and former exports to sterling bloc countries almost nullified. While it has taken the federal administration some time to recognize an aggravated condition, a beginning with power and the cost of rail haulage are fairly obvious first remedies. There should be little complaint throughout Canada that the Atlantic partners in the national union are now to receive some merited, if tardy, attention.

NHA Beyond Means of Most

ANALYSIS by the provincial bureau of economics and statistics of the costs of home building, more particularly with respect to financing, demonstrate that the National Housing Act plan of assistance has ceased to perform the purpose for which it was intended. There is some doubt as to whether the scheme ever did meet the postwar housing situation even in the beginning. Certainly in more recent years changing economic conditions have put the ownership of a new home, even one offering the minimum of living space for a family, farther out of reach of those in the low and middle income groups.

Nothing could be more revealing in this connection than the fact noted in the report that the average income of persons granted N.H.A. loans last year was $5,282. That is far above the provincial and national income averages. The discouraging truth for young families with visions of home ownership is that they need an income of better than $5,000 to be able to meet the monthly payments on a modest dwelling on a run-of-the-mill lot if they are to have enough money left for all the other costs of living. With the N.H.A. interest rates raised to six per cent the prospect of being able to build becomes more remote than ever.

The outlook is much more disheartening for the wage earner over 40 years of age, unless he enjoys an income well above the average. On the 25-year repayment term this man would be retired before he had finished discharging his debt. Consequently many older men who essay to build under N.H.A. would never attain full ownership because the payments remaining after retirement would be beyond the means of whatever pensions they might have. At the rate of monthly commitments necessary to finance such a loan, the N.H.A. system for people in this position scarcely qualifies as cheap rent either.

More Canadian families now own homes—or are in the process of paying for homes they hope ultimately to own—than was the case before the war, which is a mark of progress. Nevertheless the painful facts of reaching that status on borrowed money at increasing rates of interest, when money buys less and less each year, make it plain that the Dominion government's rosy vision of every wage earner being able to own his home remains a long way from attainment.

At Odds—as Usual

THERE does not appear to be much prospect that the four Greater Victoria councils will be able to agree on a single centennial project for this area. Perhaps this was too much to expect. When it comes to working together the traditional attitude is the non-co-operative one. Conciliation is as hard to achieve here as it is in the United Nations. To each his own is the preferred motto instead of all for one. There is a meeting under the aegis of Mayor Scurrah to be held later this week, but if delegates are bound beforehand to a specific project there is small hope of co-operation.

Saanich for instance is adamant that its share of the centennial grant should go towards a new wing for the Royal Jubilee Hospital. While not so strictly committted Oak Bay and Esquimalt also favor this as a number one project. The city's concept of a youth centre is by no means a stroke of genius, but at least it has the merit of being something new. Better far however if the inter-municipal committee could bring itself to set both these ideas aside and approach the subject afresh.

The hospital wing proposal actually hasn't a leg to stand on. This is a bare-faced attempt to save money on a routine municipal responsibility totally unconnected with B.C.'s centenary. Even if all four municipalities put their centennial grants into this project this money couldn't begin to build a new hospital wing. At most it might subsidize a kitchen or build a few rooms. The contribution would be swamped in the total cost and the centennial aspect indistinguishable.

The provincial centennial committee is perhaps partially to blame for the confusion attending choice of a suitable centennial memorial. It could with profit have issued a list of projects, not those which were appropriate but the kind of proposals which were not. If it had barred from the grant-in-aid any undertaking which was normal, run-of-the-mill municipal business it would have removed the temptation for councils to cash in on the provincial birthday. This might have forced them to concentrate on the real purpose of the centennial grants: to provide a lasting memorial in the form of something which ordinarily would not be erected. Conceivably the municipal councils of this area might then for once have managed to work together with a common aim.

Oil Shipment Considered Test

By WILTON WYNN
Associated Press Correspondent

CAIRO (AP)—Passage of an American tanker through the Gulf of Aqaba with oil for Israel has aroused concern here that President Nassar may demand withdrawal of UN Emergency Force troops from the gulf's mouth.

It was from Sharm-El-Sheikh on the Egyptian shore of the narrow Tiran Strait at the gulf's entrance that Egypt blockaded shipping until the Israeli invasion last fall.

When the Israelis withdrew, Finnish units of UNEF moved in. Egypt has claimed the UNEF has no legal right there, but has allowed the force to remain as a courtesy.

But since the arrival of the American tanker at Elath, the Israeli port on the gulf, Nasser will find it difficult to continue ignoring Sharm-El-Sheikh.

Arrival of the first tanker at Elath is of vital importance in Arab eyes.

To the Arabs it may be the first major defeat in the economic warfare they have waged against the Jewish state since their failure to crush it by military action.

To realistic Arabs, economic pressure represents the only hope of ever forcing Israel to allow nearly 1,000,000 Palestine Arab refugees to return to their old homes inside Israel from nearby Arab states.

If oil begins to move steadily to Israel through the Gulf of Aqaba, the economic war as well as the shooting one may be lost, they believe.

Continuation of such oil shipments through the gulf, coupled with the Elath-Beersheba pipeline scheduled to open next month, will create a rival to the Suez Canal for flow of Middle East oil to the West.

Although the source of the oil on the first tanker has not been announced except that it came from the Persian Gulf, Egyptians suspect it came from Arab fields.

ANIMALS, it is said, do not eat unless they are hungry—which is not something than can always be said of humans. That is why there are so many lunch counters.

Incidentally, you do not see the physical variety among animals that homo sapiens is wont to disclose; the lean and the stout, the obese and the attenuated inexorably associated with the human race. Somehow or other a herd, drove or flock, or what have you, always looks as though waistlines were under a kind of uniform control.

But perhaps it is only the inexperienced eye that draws this conclusion.

Eating, of course, is rather a delightful pastime, one that few of us would care to discard, and since the invention of menus man has walked steadily away from the days when, like animals, he ate only to live.

Nowadays, if one may judge by portents which need not be catalogued here, he lives to eat. At least in great part he does. There is more unnecessary coffee drunk than would fill Boulder Dam, while the concommitant of such thirst is an avalanche of titbits that spell avoirdupois, period.

Man in this discourse natually includes women, since such important functions as pink teas—why pink, I wonder? — contribute liberally to physical disparities. It is really unfair what an extra chocolate eclair can do to a person.

It is also only fair to add that masculine appetites are equally avid of tempting delicacies.

This is where all the trouble about eating lies, unfortunately — in the appetite. Were it not for this physical craving, as the dictionary defines it, life would be ever so much simpler. One wouldn't then be in a quandary every time a men is scanned —the price apart, I mean—with one's instincts voting to sample the whole bill of fare.

And instinct is not a safe guide to nutrition. Time was when the slant of one's appetite was construed as akin to the wisdom that governed the eating habits of animals. Some inner gremlin was deemed to take care of the selective process for one's particular digestion and growth.

If I am to believe the commercials such a notion is outmoded. Fashions change even with such fundamentals as the staff of life. Food, once something to put in one's mouth to keep one alive or please the palate, has become a coldly calculated science having all the attractiveness of a pale, insipid pill.

The only safe guide for eating, it seems, is a diet based on proven rules of nutrition. Instinct is out.

That is why there are all those charts about calories and proteins and vitamins, words your great-grandfather would think had been specially invented to suit the scales in a laboratory. For all this column knows, perhaps they have been.

There could be no real objection to the ukase of food scientists, I suppose, if it were not for the catch, which alas is that one should study the rules of diet and then eat only what is good for one.

Not what is good to eat, mark you, but what does you good. And, of course, the things that are good for you are never the things you like to eat.

This is perhaps the most perverse feature of life as a whole.

It seems, therefore, that one must make a choice; one can eat to live and be a specimen of which any food chemist would be proud. Or one can follow his great-grandfather's example and still reach for the extra chocolate eclair.

On the Record

Bogus Alarm of Nationalization

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN THE still unsettled Middle East crisis, a bogey keeps cropping up in the press—the threat that the oil resources in the Arab world may be nationalized, to the disaster of the industrialized Western countries dependant upon it.

Having recently returned from a visit to some 20 Middle East countries, including the chief oil-producing ones, I find the apprehension very much of a bogeyman and the parallel with the nationalization of the Suez Canal extremely far-fetched.

Nationalizing a waterway is one matter. Nationalizing oil fields and oil production and distribution is another. To maintain and improve the canal, safely pass ships through it, and collect tolls for the right of passage is presumably within the technical capacities of the Egyptian government. But the financing, drilling, conservation, refining, transporting, and marketing of oil are an entirely different proposition, involving scientific (geological), engineering, labor-training, financial and commercial capacities and, above all, experience that no Middle East government commands or will for a long time to come, despite the fact that nationals of the oil-producing countries are being trained for high technical and even managerial positions all the time.

In one sense Middle East oil fields are already "nationalized." They aren't "owned" by the companies that operate them. They are leased, under terms negotiated between the government in actual possession of the resources and the company that produces and markets the oil, these terms being continually subject to accounting and interpretation in which there is often tough bargaining. But the relationship is a partnership based on mutual and equal benefit.

No government in power in any oil-producing country today wants to terminate this partnership. All of them are far more intelligent regarding what would follow than are their rabble-rousing critics. They know what happened to Iran when Mossadegh "nationalized" Iranian oil and thereby shut down Iran's most lucrative business, bankrupted the treasury and finally got himself overthrown.

The plain fact is that if the existent contracts were terminated the governments would have to make with some other company, as Iran finally salvaged her resources by making a new contract with Consortium.

But whom would they call in? The Egyptians? Even Gamal Nasser doesn't think his junta could operate a great oil business. The Russians? Then they would sacrifice all national sovereignty. And from whom would they get better terms?

No oil company in the Middle East is a sovereign state within the state where it operates. It must perform its work under the laws of the land, as, for instance, its labor laws. It exercises influence, but it must always prove its case as beneficial to the other partner.

In general its influence is on the side of progress, improvement of living standards, and national development.

Iraq, for instance, is the most rapidly developing Middle East country. Almost all the oil profits, which it shares 50-50 with the Iraq Petroleum Company, are going not into the ordinary budget but to build roads, schools, hospitals, low-cost housing, and carry through land development.

To a greater or lesser degree this is true everywhere. Jeddah, in Saudi Arabia, through which hundreds of thousands of moslem pilgrims pour annually en route to Mecca, has probably the finest quarantine station and hospital for infectious diseases in the world—built by the king's oil. Jeddah, for the first time in its ancient history, has pure water, pumped from distant mountains by the national revenue from oil.

The quarrels of the oil countries are not with the companies—beyond those conflicts that arise within all business relations — but with the policies of some of their brother-Arabs. When Syria severed the IPC pipeline and blew up its pumps, the IPC was no more infuriated than the Iraqi government, whose interests—and those of many perfectly innocent customers, and of Syria herself — were gravely injured.

The oil-producing countries are precisely the most pro-Western ones.

Justified Complaint

(From the Toronto Telegram)

A TORONTO woman driving to Kingston was stopped by a policeman for alleged speeding. Explaining that he was out of his territory, he called another officer to make out the ticket. The summons was returnable in Whitby magistrate's court, and was accompanied by the usual intimation that the fine could be mailed.

The motorist, believing she had not broken the speed limit, decided to attend court, and drove from Toronto to do so. There she was told that the constable who laid the charge was not present, and the case would be adjourned for a week. Presumably the defendant should continue to drive from Toronto until the officer found it convenient to attend.

Most persons receiving a traffic summons prefer to send in the prescribed fine rather than spend an undetermined time in traffic court. They may or may not be guilty, may not even recall the circumstances of the alleged violation, but feel they do not wish to take the time to appear. Consequently, it is often the case that the constable laying the information is not in court. His hours on duty may make it difficult to do so.

On behalf of the Attorney General's Department it is stated that a magistrate in such cases is within his right in ordering a remand. On behalf of common sense, it may be stated that it would be more appropriate to dismiss the charge, which in fact is usually done with minor traffic charges when there is nobody to prosecute.

The 'Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

AN old war comrade of mine who has had a wonderful success in life is bedevilled with a son who is a good deal less than worthless. He has been a constant expense. If you could appraise the value of a son in dollars, I would say this boy is a debit of about $150,000, which, at 5 per cent, would bring in $7,500 per annum. And at a conservative estimate, that is about what this youth has cost his father annually for the past four or five years.

Sports cars, trips to England, Bermuda, two different colleges at which he has failed, debts, scandals to hush up, shenanigans, mixups — I think $7,500 a year is a modest guess.

How a man who can organize his life in business, in society and in heroic service to his country in war, leading and directing all the way, choosing his men with unerring eye, being iron when need be, can put up with a son who from boyhood demonstrated all the characteristics of a lout, is one of the most engrossing aspects of the mystery of human nature. The father has not been without advice from his many friends and confidants. I myself on suitable occasions have asked him why he doesn't crack down on the boy. The man who has never in 40 years been at a loss for the right answer to almost any question put to him just stares off into space with a baffled expression.

Recently, the boy got into a jam that was without a redeeming feature; it involved the police, newspaper notoriety and humiliation. Three of us, old cronies, constituted ourselves a committee to call on our old comrade to see what we could do.

We talked the whole situation over. And we got nowhere. To our astonishment, the father resented our attitude towards the boy. He kept referring to mitigating circumstances.

"What are the mitigating circumstances?" one of us asked.

"You wouldn't understand them," said the father.

"But what are they?"

"He is my son," said the father.

What in the world can you do with fathers?

With the Classics

The sea is calm tonight.
The tide is full, the moon lies fair
Upon the Straits—on the French coast, the light
Gleams, and is gone; the cliffs of England stand,
Glimmering and vast, out in the tranquil bay.
Come to the window, sweet is the night air!
Only, from the long line of spray,
Where the ebb meets the moon-blanched sand,
Listen! you hear the grating roar
Of pebbles which the waves suck back and fling,
At their return, up the high strand,
Begin, and cease, and then again begin,
With tremulous cadence slow, and bring
The eternal note of sadness in.

Splitting the Vote

It is beyond question that the majority of the people in Canada wish for a change of government in Ottawa.

With a good leader the Conservatives appear to have the best chance. If the Social Credit party splits the vote it is unlikely that either party will have a sufficient majority to win the coming election. If the Socreds would refrain from running and would instruct all their adherents (for the present) to vote for the Conservative party we

At some future date the Socreds, having proved their worth provincially, could then run with hopes of winning a federal election. By running now they are simply defeating their own ends and taking enough votes from the Conservatives to put the Liberals back in power.

Help Always Given

After reading in your columns re our police and firemen not assisting the civil defence organization I want to state definitely that Mr. Coles and Mr. Peachey were 10 miles off the facts, as in the years I was on the staff of CD at no time did we receive anything but the best help possible from both police and firemen.

Sgt. Douglass in his own time was always there and ready to give any volunteers all assistance possible in police work. As to the firemen, Chief Briers and all his staff were always ready to give us all aid possible. In fact, the fire marshal came over from Vancouver to help us out. This goes for both police and firemen in Langford, Saanich and Oak Bay.

Taxpayers Organize

At last Victoria has a ratepayers' organization. In my opinion this organization is of the utmost importance to every property owner and taxpayer in the city of Victoria. Now is the time for every taxpayer to get behind this newly formed association and make it strong and work toward the benefit of all concerned. Rising taxes concern all of us at the present time. Schools and a project for the centenary, also the proposed cemetery at Goldstream, are of deep interest to the ratepayers of Victoria.

At the next meeting three members of city council will be invited to attend. There will be a question period. Notice of meetings will be listed in the daily newspapers. Any one wishing further information will be gladly received if they phone the following: Mrs. H. I. MacKenzie, president, 3-2607; Mrs. A. Mickelson, secretary, 2-1040; Mr. Perrin, treasurer, 3-1646; Mrs. Vining, publicity, 3-0333.

New Budget

What Britons Think

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor party politicians called the budget presented Tuesday a rich man's budget. Members of the entertainment world said it was "wonderful news."

Most early comment concerned tax cuts for those making more than £2,000, removal of taxes on theatre productions and sporting events, cuts in taxes on movies, gasoline and certain household furnishings and utensils and increases in cost of licences for radio and television sets.

A Labor politician argued the budget would not help the government in a general election because it helps those already pro-Conservative.

In a London pub one Briton mused: "When I think of it, I don't see that I get anything. I see only a couple theatre productions a year and about four soccer matches. So I save about four or five bob (50 or 60 cents). At the same time I have to pay a quid ($2.80) more for my television."

Britain Easing Load On High-Paid Class

LONDON (CP)—Britain's executive and managerial classes received solid tax concessions Tuesday in a "room at the top" budget which may antagonize organized labor and other low-income groups.

old Conservative chancellor of the exchequer, reduced the nation's tax bill by £100,000,000 ($280,000,000) in his first budget address.

The income-tax reliefs apply mainly to persons earning more than £40 a week in a country where the average industrial wage is about $11.

Thorneycroft's report to Parliament came against a background of social discontent and frustration which has caused thousands of professional people, wearied of high taxes, to make a beeline for Canada and other Commonwealth countries.

However, a Canadian immigration official said Tuesday night "very, very few" of the recent emigrants to Canada have been in the £2,000-a-year range which is the starting point for the budget's chief concessions.

"In the society we seek to create, there should always be room at the top," Thorneycroft said in closing his 90-minute speech.

Other budget provisions:

Entertainment tax—abolished on all sports and the theatre. Movie tickets will be cheaper through a reduction in duty.

Purchase tax—cut to 15 per cent from 30 per cent on linoleums, carpets, kitchenware and tableware, metal cutlery, pottery and some home furniture.

Income tax—increased allowances for teen-age children and elderly people but nothing specifically for old-age pensioners.

Captain James Cook sailed all around the Antarctic continent in 1772-74, inspiring many future expeditions.

Wisecracks Not a Play

By BERT BINNEY

The 1957 Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival opened last night at Oak Bay Junior High School. Proceedings before adjudicator Mrs. Lillie Harper and a small house, were set in motion by Judge Joseph B. Clearihue.

First play was Eric Nicol's "Brass Tacks," a script without sufficient meat in it to enrich a small can of dog food. A succession of wisecracks do not make a play, so that, with so little material to work with the cast found the task of projection too much.

"THE CAT"

"The Cat," presented by the Columbine Club, came next and established good feeling and atmosphere. There were fine performances by Clifford Clark and Vera Trueman, both providing sustained, credible characterizations.

They were competently supported by Willine Loadman as Bella, but we could not agree with the interpretation by Dick Pugh of Inspector Jarvis.

Climax of this play was, unfortunately, rather weak as the fairly obvious means of handling it was, apparently, not used.

Final item on the program was "A Battle of Wits," a play in Chinese style, presented by St. Luke's Players. Outstanding were Marlene Dickson as Silver Lotus, Russel Gurney as Sun Chu and Margaret Martin as a Property Man. These three kept the affair rolling—a redoubtable effort as there is not too much in the script.

The festival continues with three plays tonight including "My Love Is Dead," by Rona Murray of Victoria, the only play entered in the category for best written original play.

A charming and delightful Irish comedy by Lady Gregory, "Spreading the News," is also on the bill, the program being completed with "The Shaft and the Shadow."

Single British Command?

LONDON (Reuters) — Defence Minister Duncan Sandys says the government is considering the possibility of bringing Britain's three armed services under one command. However he said he could make no definite statement at the moment on the subject.

If nothing seems to help, if other methods have failed you, give nature a chance and try Kellogg's All-Bran. All-Bran restores the natural laxative bulk you need daily to avoid irregularity. No miracles, no secret ingredients—just good old-fashioned bran doing the job nature intended it to. We recommend a bowl a day served with milk. Kellogg's—the original, ready-to-eat bran cereal with the wonderful bran muffin flavor. Inexpensive, nutritious, effective. Eat All-Bran for 10 days. If not entirely satisfied, return empty carton and get twice what you paid.

Edgelow Much Surprised If Bryant Miffed at Him

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said yesterday he was surprised at remarks about him—"if he is talking about me"—made to Esquimalt council Monday night by Coun. James Bryant.

Coun. Bryant told Esquimalt council he was becoming "very unhappy about the remarks and actions of certain members of Victoria city council," and added that if Mayor Scurrah wanted talks on hospitals, schools, parks or centennial projects to succeed, he should "appoint some other gentleman than the one now representing the city."

He did not name Ald. Edgelow, chairman of the Greater Victoria centennial committee, who, as chairman of city council parks committee recently suggested that Saanich should contribute to the upkeep of city parks.

"I'm a bit surprised," Ald. Edgelow said yesterday, "because to the best of my knowledge, Esquimalt hasn't come up in my conversation recently. The only reason that Saanich has is that we have parks there.

"There has been no ill feeling at any time, anyway.

"To the contrary, when the B.C. Electric offered Gorge park to the city and Esquimalt said it would like it, I was all in favor of letting Esquimalt have it. I think I have been very friendly to Esquimalt at all times.

RANGOON (Reuters) — Fire swept through the outskirts of Rangoon Monday night killing at least 20 persons and destroying 20,000 huts as well as houses, factories, bazaars and temples. The fire, fanned by a stiff breeze, razed an area of about six square miles, then burned itself out.

TEHRAN, Iran — Brothers of bandit leader Dadshah were returned from Pakistan to Iran yesterday to face possible execution by firing squad for the killing of three Americans. Pakistani officials handed over brothers—Ahmed and Mohammed—amid indications that Dadshah may have cheated the firing squad by suicide.

Two Honor Guards At John Hart Rites

The old 5th Regiment, of which John Hart was honorary colonel, and the Knights of Columbus, in which Mr. Hart was a fourth-degree knight, will form honor guards Thursday morning for the funeral services of the former premier.

Tonight at 8.30 robed members of the Knights of Columbus will attend a prayer service at Hayward's funeral chapel, first service of its kind witnessed here in many years.

The state funeral Thursday will also mark the first time in more than 20 years that honor guards are present at services.

Honorary pallbearers will be Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, Hon. Eric Hamber, Hon. Charles Banks and Hon. Clarence Wallace, the last three all former lieutenant - governors; Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, Sen. J. W. de B. Farris, A. E. Grauer, W. T. Straith, Col. George Paulin, J. C. Thow, Harold S. Foley and R. J. Filberg.

Active pallbearers will be Jack Kingsberry, Tom Woolison, Harvey Bailey, Jack Todd, David Carey and J. F. Dunn.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific Institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

NOW... you as an individual can have your own Pension Plan with tax-exempt contributions

If you act quickly, up to 10% of your earnings in 1957 can go, tax exempt, into an individual Pension Plan of your own. This is the first time that individuals can be on the same basis as those who enjoy the benefits of Group Pension Plans.

IN ADDITION if you already belong to a Group Pension Plan, there is a possibility you may still start your own plan to increase your retirement income in later life.

Canada Life Representatives have the latest information on the details of recent Income Tax changes affecting Pension Plans. They can help you take advantage of the changes at once. Phone the nearest Canada Life Office, or mail the coupon below.

Late Buying Beats Ticker At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a brisk general advance Tuesday in one of the liveliest sessions of this year.

Buoyed by some good corporate news, most major divisions caught the mood and marched ahead.

Near the close the high-speed ticker tape was running a minute behind in reporting the final rush of buying orders.

Industrial issues were the best performers. The leading rails went ahead but slightly. The western carriers steadied. Utilities were mixed.

Uraniums In Demand

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market moved irregularly higher Tuesday in moderate trading. Industrials carried their advance into a seventh straight session but western oils encountered more profit-taking.

Selected industrials moved higher within a two-point range. Pembina Pipe Line gained 2½ points. Trans Prairie was up 1⅞ to 27¼.

Uraniums made their strongest advance in more than two weeks.

Montreal Undecided

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed irregularly mixed Tuesday with industrial movements ranging to more than two points.

International Paper was high in its division, firming a point at 94½, while Howard Smith at 34¾ was up ¾ and Powell River gained ¼ at 41⅛. Consolidated Paper lost ¾ at 36½ and Price Brothers at 86 was ¼ lower. Among base metals Noranda dropped 2½ to 523¼ while Aluminium at 122 showed a one-point gain. Trans-Mountain at 131¼ and Inter-Provincial Pipe Lines at 58 each dipped ¾.

B.C. Stocks Rally

VANCOUVER — B.C. lumber and paper stocks showed some sign of rallying with Powell River at $41¼ and MacMillan and Bloedel at $31½. Westminster "B" however was off $1 at $24½. B.C. Power weakened $1.25 to $43¼.

Fort St. John closed strong at $7 among oils and Pacific Petroleum made a small gain at $22½. Canadian Atlantic drifted to $7.25.

Among mines Bralorne was weak at $1.60, down 25 cents, and Bethlehem Copper drifted to $2. Pacific Nickel, after making a top of 1.17 closed at the day's low of 1.03.

London Tone Firm

LONDON (Reuters) — London stock markets were subdued as investors awaited the government's budget statement later in the day. The undertone, however, was firm on selective support.

Victorians Safe From 'Hot' Rain

Something More To Boast About

By DAVID FRANCIS

Victorians have another weather fact to boast about—a minimum fall of radioactive rain.

The city is in a "favored position," Dr. William English, head of the marine physics group at the Pacific Naval Laboratory, disclosed last night.

He explained that the main air stream from the west, which could carry radioactive particles, often divides several hundred miles off the coast and passes to the north and south of Victoria.

Thus, radioactive clouds often miss this area on their second time around, he said.

Eastern areas of North America received rain of higher radioactive count than here, Dr. English said.

George T. Warren, commissioner of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, hailed the news of Victoria's "favored position."

DON'T WANT ANY

"As far as atomic rainfall goes, we don't want any of it," he said. "I am glad to hear we are not getting much of it."

"Our weather conditions rank second to none," he added with his usual conviction.

Dr. English joked that Easterners may want to come to Victoria to "cool off."

He added, thought that radioactive rainfalls here and in the east are much too weak to be harmful.

Victoria's last radioactive rainfall occurred March 18, when 390 counts per minute per litre was recorded.

Normal background activity during the last quarters of 1956 and the first quarter of this year, has been 20 to 100 counts per minute per litre of rain, Dr. English reported.

RUSSIAN TESTS

The March 18 "hot" rainfall could have come from Russian nuclear bomb tests, he said.

Fukuoka weather bureau in Japan clocked a record radioactive rainfall of 230,000 clicks per litre per minute Dec. 20, he noted.

Victoria's highest count was 1,050, a year ago, he said.

Which Twin Has Tummy?

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smits found 20 headache pills missing from a bottle, they figured one of their 18-month-old twin sons had gobbled the tablets—but which?

To be on the safe side, they hurried both Randall and Russell off to hospital.

And a good idea it was, as things came out. A stomach pump produced pills from both boys.

Castaway's Rescue Ends Week Ordeal

A harrowing, week-long ordeal of a shipwrecked New Westminster fisherman ended yesterday when he was spotted drifting aboard a makeshift raft in Queen Charlotte Strait and taken to Alert Bay aboard the RCN minesweeper James Bay.

The man, identified as Thule Storm, about 50, told rescuers of a week spent aboard his wrecked gillnet boat, Olive S., which was storm-driven aground April 2 on a tiny sandspit in the Gordon Islands off northern Vancouver Island.

Storm lived off food stores left intact in the beached boat and kept warm at nights with driftwood fires.

By early yesterday he had fashioned a raft from driftwood and pieces of his own boat bound together with rope. He then set off across the narow stretch of water to Vancouver Island.

He said he saw one tug pass by him in the distance but he was too far away to be seen or heard.

A naval spokesman at Esquimalt said the James Bay and Fortune, ships of the 2nd Canadian Minesweeping Squadron based here, were returning home from a training exercise when the James Bay sighted the raft at 1.15 p.m.

The raft, approximately four feet by six feet, was described by rescuers as "amazingly sturdy," but because of treacherously swift tides and unstable winds in the area, they considered Storm's chances of floating to shore unharmed "slim."

James Bay took raft as well as survivor to Alert Bay, about 30 miles to the southeast of the rescue point.

Storm, who fishes in the northern coastal waters for B.C. Packers, aparently suffered no lasting effects from his ordeal and did not go to hospital.

Storm is believed to have been alone on the Olive S., but it could not be absolutely confirmed last night.

An Alert Bay resident told the Colonist that it is common for small gillnetters to carry only one-man crews. The Olive S., was estimated to be a 26-footer.

Worried about the future? Not Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella, who's a most happy fella as he suns himself on the dugout steps during an exhibition game in Florida. Despite disappointing 1956 season, Campy's all set for a big comeback this year and claims his ailing hand is giving him no trouble. (CP photo)

League Must Cut Costs

Fans Must Give Support

Cougar Loss $28,000, Future in Doubt

By JIM TANG

Directors of the Victoria Hockey Club announced yesterday that the Victoria Cougars had operated this past season at a loss of $28,000. Continued operation was doubtful, but every effort would be made to keep professional hockey in Victoria.

Denied were reports, stemming from Vancouver, that it was already certain there would be no hockey in Victoria next season.

"We will do everything possible to keep hockey here," a spokesman said last night. He added that some assurance of fan support would have to be forthcoming if the Cougars are to remain in the Western Hockey League.

Gate receipts failed by almost $35,000 of matching the Cougars' operational expense. The cost of operation for the season was $148,000 and the amount derived from ticket sales about $113,000. Miscellaneous revenue reduced the deficit for the season to $28,000.

Faced with the above figures, directors feel that they cannot operate for another season unless there is (a) some assurance of fan support and (b) a sharp reduction in operating expenses.

Of immediate importance is a league meeting on April 25 and 26, at which some declaration of intention has to be made. It is reasonably certain that the Victoria club will ask for more time to make a decision on whether or not the club will operate next season. If this is granted, the Cougars may place season tickets on sale early next month to test fan reaction.

"If we have to do this," a director said last night, "we would place the money in trust until such time as a definite decision has been made."

He stressed again that the club could not continue operations unless there was some reason to believe it would be supported.

That the league clubs will take steps to cut operating costs at the meeting this month is certain. At least three of the four Western Division clubs feel that they will be unable to continue operation much longer, if at all, unless there is a sharp reduction in the cost of operation.

Reduction of the player limit and also the number of veteran players is probable. It is almost certain that interdivisional play will be wiped out altogether or sliced to one trip for each club. Cost of making three inter-divisional trips is close to $10,000 for each club. It's one of the easier items to cut, a luxury which can no longer be afforded.

The Victoria club has prepared an operating budget of $110,000, and a second budget at a slightly higher figure, for discussion at the meeting. If recommendations necessary to meet these figures are accepted and Victoria fans give some assurance of support in another season, the Cougars will be able to continue operation. It has to be both.

Club directors, however, said any decision would not be based on the fact that the Patrick family would no longer be connected with the Cougars.

They pointed out that Lester Patrick had sold his interest in the club more than a year ago and came back to help out in an advisory capacity for the past season due to the death of general-manager Fred Hutchinson. It had been known for some time that stock owned by Lynn and Muzz Patrick would be turned back to the club and that future operation depended solely on a reduced budget and evidence of fan support.

AT THE 19th

A feature of the Island Open championship so far this year has been the success of the professionals. The four who originally entered all qualified and they all won their first round matches Sunday.

Is there a chance this year that one from the paid ranks will win this title for the first time?

Candidates for this honor are Laurie Carroll of Oak Bay, Bill Court of Colwood, Joe Pryke of Gorge Vale and Ron Cush who operates the driving range out on Quadra.

All four have the shots for the task, but the trouble with most of the pros in this district is that they do not get the same competitive opportunities as the best of the amateurs, and in the past that has been their downfall.

On Sunday when the second round is played at the Victoria club, Bill Court has the tough test of meeting favored Bill McColl, but the comparatively short Oak Bay course probably gives him a better chance than he would have on Colwood or Uplands.

Joe Pryke also has a doughty opponent in Jim Robertson, who on his day is as difficult a man to beat as there is in the district. Laurie Carroll, playing on his own course, is up against a stout match player in Al Reside of Uplands.

All these golfers as well as Laurie Kerr, the reigning champion, are in the top half of the draw.

The only pro in the lower half is Cush, and his next opponent is the youthful Roy Chappell, who is fast developing as one of the district's brightest young hopes.

George Bigelow and Vince Clarkson are two outstanding amateurs in the lower half of the draw. Bigelow meets D. Barton, of Courtenay, the only Up-Islander left in the championship. Clarkson meets Joe Briggs, who can be extremely deadly on the Oak Bay course.

The shrewd observers at Uplands Sunday thought that Bill McColl got a poor game out of his system when he had to struggle all the way to beat his nephew Jim McColl, Jr., and that he might go on to equal Hibberson's feat of being a dual winner of the competition.

Others think that Laurie Kerr is right back in his best form and will be the one to beat.

HOGAN SETS SLOW PACE: That fellow Ben Hogan set a new style in golf concentration when he made himself the golfer of his generation, but maybe he has a lot to answer for.

Since Ben showed the world how he got his results by studying each shot, there are hundreds of big and little Bens, low handicap and high, who go on sightseeing tours to get the line to the hole, take half a dozen practice swings, and take worm's eye views of each putting green.

On the typical North American golf course, the rate for playing a round on a crowded course is getting near to the five-hour mark. At Oak Bay last weekend when the Empress boys were practicing, some players took more than 5½ hours on the circuit.

One local quartet went out with a pack of cards and completed six games of gin rummy while waiting on the tees.

Another party playing in the club's two-ball foursome competition gave up after 12 holes. They calculated that as each side had played less than 60 shots in four hours, they were playing at the rate of 7½ shots each player to the hour.

The day may not be far off when we may find a new use for caddies — to carry our lunch baskets and camp chairs on the daily safari.

NEW CLUB FORMED: The B.C. Telephone Company employees in Victoria have formed the Victel Golf Association, and intend to have monthly competitions this summer at Colwood the second Saturday in each month. Distinguished member is Island champion Laurie Kerr, who is on the greens committee with Bill Hawker. Club president is Douglas Smith and Doug Moir is secretary. Among the 36 members is Dave Flynn, who knows Hogan's latest instruction lesson off by heart and has big hopes.

CLUB JOTTINGS: Bob Kelly, one of Colwood's newcomers from Vancouver, may be a dark horse in the Island Open . . . Stan Moore, Victoria club's left-hander, took four in a trap and ran up a nine at the 14th in the Empress qualifying round, otherwise he might have been medalist . . . Doc Bigelow has a medical partner, Doc Hutchison, who isn't a low handicap golfer, but Hutch parnered by Gordon Verley, beat Bigelow and his partner, J. Hobson, in the first round of the Challoner-Mitchell foursome at Oak Bay last weekend . . . Professional Bill Mawhinney won the Mainland match play medal round Sunday with four-under-par 68. Another pro, Fred Wood of Shaughnessy, was second at 69 . . . Bill Forst tells me that of the 132 entries over 100 had handicaps of five and under.

Hurd, Wells Blanked In U.S. Shuttle Meet

SPOKANE — Jim Wells and Harvey Hurd of Victoria ran into the highly-rated Danish team of Finn Kobbero and Jorgen Hammergaard Hansen here Tuesday and failed to win a point as they were ousted from open doubles competition in the United States badminton championships.

Hurd, Canadian junior champion, and Wells won their first-round match Monday but dropped a 15-0, 15-0 decision to the powerful Danish combination yesterday.

Wells and Russ Hill of Oswego, Ore., gained the semi-finals of veterans' doubles play. George Lane, also of Victoria, partnered Carl Anderson of Seattle to reach the semi-finals of the veterans' event.

Last British Columbia player was ousted in women's open singles play when Claire Lovett of Vancouver lost to Lois Alston of Pasadena in a quarter-final match.

Beliveau's Goal Stands Up for Habs; Luckless Bruins Trail by Two Games

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Jean Beliveau, streaking into the clear on "Boom-Boom" Geoffrion's forward pass, scored the only goal at 2.27 of the second period Tuesday night, giving Montreal Canadiens 1-0 shutout over Boston Bruins and the second straight game in the Stanley Cup final.

The second setback in Montreal for the Bruins leaves them trailing 2-0 for the third game at Boston Garden tomorrow night.

Tuesday night's game was a vicious checking struggle, the Bruins battling in vain for the tying goal in the dying minutes while the crowd of 13,500 screamed throughout Canadiens' last great defensive stand that earned goalie Jacques Plante his shutout.

CAUGHT BY SURPRISE

Beliveau's goal, which grew bigger and bigger as the minutes ticked off, seemed to catch the Bruins by surprise.

Defenceman Dollard St. Laurent of Montreal battled Real Chevrefils of Boston for the puck in the Montreal end. St. Laurent finally got it and sent a pass up over the blue line to Geoffrion, who sent a pass that went between the Bruins defence of Leo Boivin and Bob Armstrong, just as Beliveau raced between them.

The Montreal centre, ace scorer for his club this season, gathered in the puck without breaking stride and sped in on goalie Don Simmons, pulling the goalie out with some fancy stickhandling and lifting the puck into the net.

The Bruins kept a close watch on Maurice Rocket Richard, who counted four of his team's goals in their 5-1 Saturday night game. The Rocket this time was tailed by Fleming Mackell, with a switch in the Boston lines against Richard's trio, instead of Real Chevrefils.

The Rocket was balked in his scoring efforts, largely in the third period, through the sensational work of Simmons.

The shutout marked the first time in 69 games the Bruins have been blanked. They last were held scoreless Oct. 30 in Chicago, when the Black Hawks won, 4-0.

The close checking throughout held down the shots on goal, particularly by Canadiens, who had 23 compared with the 41 they fired at Simmons in the first game. The Bruins found the range on Plante 24 times.

The longer the third period went the more savage the offensive by the Bruins. Canadiens met it with one of their own instead of falling back on the defensive to protect their slender lead.

Leo Labine missed on one chance midway in the period and scarcely a minute later Plante made the most sensational save of the night when he robbed Cal Gardner of a goal.

Habs 'Weak' On Offence

MONTREAL (BUP) — Coach Toe Blake said his Montreal Canadiens "will have to show more offensive strength in the next two games" if they hope to win in Boston after beating the Bruins, 1-0, Tuesday night to go two up in the Stanley Cup final.

"I think maybe they (the Canadiens) started trying to protect the lead too soon," Blake added. "But we were weak offensively, especially in the second period after Beliveau scored."

Blake said it was the "best game we have played defensively and certainly the best game Plante (goalie Jacques Plante) has played for us. He was great, wasn't he?"

Royals One Game Away From Coast Puck Title

New Westminster's injury-riddled Royals, playing without high-scoring Gordie Fashoway and two other regulars, sent 5,000 New Westminster fans home happy last night when they dumped Seattle Americans, 5-2, to move within a single game of the coast division Western Hockey League championship.

Meanwhile, Brandon Regals also took a 3-1 edge in the best-of-seven eastern division final with Edmonton Flyers, winning the fourth game, 3-2, at home on a goal by Len Haley at 2.39 of an overtime period.

Loss of Fashoway, Royals' biggest scoring threat, was discovered yesterday afternoon, when his mouth became infected after he had a tooth pulled.

It was but another blow in a long list of misfortunes for the Royals, who have already last their ace defenceman, Pete Durham, and Steve Hrymnak. Rookie Duke Edmundson was called in to replace Fashoway, and set up Royals' fourth goal.

A total of 40 minutes in penalties was handed out, most of them in a wild second period, when American goalie Emile Francis drew a misconduct for chasing referee Scotty Morrison in protest of the Royals third goal, and Ray Kinasewich and Arlo Goodwin drew majors for fighting.

Francis made 33 stops in the game, compared to 18 for Bev Bentley of the Royals.

Dick Roberge and Goodwin gave Royals a 2-0 lead in the first period. Val Fonteyne scored for Seattle early in the second, with Blinky Boyce replying for the Royals, while Seattle was two men short. In the third period, Art Hart scored for Seattle and Bobby Love and Ollie Dorohoy wrapped it up for New Westminster.

Al Brandon, Haley took a pass from Les Colwill to slip the puck past a sprawling Dennis Riggin and give Regals the win.

The clubs were tied, 1-1, at the end of the first period as Bill McCreary tallied for Flyers and Bob Chrystal scored for Brandon.

Colwill gave Brandon the lead for the first time on a rink-long rush with Vic Lynn and Howie Yanosik in the second period, slapping a rolling puck high into the right corner of the net.

Flyers pressed from the start of the third period and were rewarded at 7.15 when Don Poile drove a rebound past Luke Dechene.

Regals took control from then on, but a brilliant Riggin robbed Les Lilley, Haley and Ray Manson to force overtime.

Empress Golf

Defending Champ Upset by Fowler

Dr. W. J. Fowler put a crimp in Ken Lindley's plans for a third Empress golf tournament title yesterday. Fowler, a 10-handicapper from Vancouver, upset the defending champion from Seattle, 2 and 1, at Victoria Golf Club in the first round of championship play for the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy.

Nor was Lindley the only highly-rated golfer to fall by the wayside in the early going of the 27th annual tourney.

Medalist Denis Purvis of Calgary, who had a net 69 in the qualifying round Monday, was dropped into flight competition by Harold Husband of the host club, 2 and 1, and D. W. Dauson of Seattle, a five handicapper, was beaten 1 up, by C. V. H. Bryan of Calgary.

CLOSE MATCHES

Competition was close yesterday as the low handicap golfers had to fight to stay in championship contention. Of the 16 championship matches played, six were decided on the last hole.

Play continues in the 16s today with quarter-finals set Thursday, semis Friday and the final Saturday. All those eliminated today and tomorrow will be eligible for a mixed foursomes Friday.

Among those who advanced yesterday were last year's finalist Dave Coons, of Vancouver, Washington, who defeated A. D. Davis of Calgary, 1 up; Eric Whitehead of Vancouver, who beat W. S. Moore of Victoria, 2 and 1; Ed Rapp, the Vancouver, Washington stylist who downed F. E. King of Calgary, 1 up, and G. R. Gardner, a two-handicapper from Calgary who won 2 up from J. L. Hansen of Seattle.

E. Gudewell of the host club beat Jim Barry, former Victoria club champion, 2 and 1, and R. D. Clay, also of the Victoria Golf Club, defeated D. V. Crawley of Seattle, 4 and 3.

Ernie Ketcham of Seattle, who shot a net 69 Monday, advanced with a 2 and 1 win over A. D. Inches of Portland.

Ladies' Field Cut to Eight

This year's medalist and a former champion from Seattle were among first-round winners yesterday as play reached the quarter-finals at Uplands Golf Club in the ladies' division Empress Golf Tournament.

Mrs. G. K. Verley of Victoria Golf Club, whose net 75 took medalist honors in Monday's luke-warm qualifying round, won her opening match in the handicap match play tournament, 2 and 1, from Mrs G. J. Barbey, an eight-handicapper from Astoria Golf Club. Mrs. Verley had a 13-stroke advantage in handicap.

Mrs. O. W. Smith, who won the women's Sir Edward Beatty Trophy in 1955, advanced to the quarter-finals by downing Mrs. Freida Bryan of Calgary by the same score.

Of the eight women who won in championship play yesterday, five came from Victoria, two from Seattle and one from Calgary.

The lone Calgary survivor, Mrs. N. LeNevu, had an easy time in her first-round match, defeating Mrs. A. C. Sanborn of Seattle, 7 and 6, and will meet Mrs. Smith in today's play.

Mrs. Verley has drawn Mrs. A. Swan of Uplands Golf Club, who defeated Mrs. M. P. Rice of Colwood, 2 and 1. Other city winners were Miss J. Warter, who beat Mrs. L. G. Palmer of Calgary, 2 and 1; Mrs. J. C. Olson, who edged Mrs. W. W. Stewart of New Westminster, 1 up, and Mrs. H. E. Valo, who scored a 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. N. M. Bamford of Victoria Golf Club.

Semi-finals in ladies' competition will be played Thursday and the finals Friday. All ladies' matches are being played at Uplands.

Redleg Sluggers Home-Run Happy

Cincinnati Redlegs' awesome home run power and a ninth-inning comeback by the Brooklyn Dodgers featured exhibition baseball action yesterday.

The Redlegs continued their heavy hitting, accounting for all their runs with six homers in a 9-7 victory over Washington Senators. Cincinnati, co-holders of the major league record of 221 homers by one team in one season, have hit 40 home runs in 29 exhibition games this year and 11 circuit drives in their last two games.

POST HITS TWO

Wally Post powered his fifth and sixth homers of spring training and Gus Bell, Frank Robinson, Ted Kluszewski and Jerry Lynch each hit one as the Redlegs won their 17th game in 29 starts.

Charley Neal's bases-loaded double climaxed a four-run, ninth-inning rally that gave the Dodgers a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee Braves before a record Tuisa crowd of 9,147.

World Track Marks Surpass 'Ultimate'

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UP) — The latest list of world track and field records approved in London is "impossible" and superhuman" according to an historic forecast made only 22 years ago by Brutus Hamilton of California.

In his famed 1935 treatise on the "ultimate of human endeavor," Hamilton set down his ideas on the absolute physical limit of how fast a man could run, how far he could jump and throw the weights in a total of 27 events.

Today all but five of those "ultimates" have been surpassed. Three were erased in 1956.

Latest to achieve "superhuman" status by those 1935 standards were sprinter Dave Sime of Duke and 400-meter hurdler Glenn Davis of Ohio State.

Hamilton predicted no sprinter ever would be able to cover 200 meters in better than 20.05 seconds or 220 yards faster than 20.18. Sime roared through both distances in 20 seconds flat on a straightaway at Sanger, California last June 9.

The ultimate for the 400-meter hurdles was 50.4 seconds but Davis made a shambles of that one with a sensational clocking of 49.5 seconds at Los Angeles June 29, 1956.

Of the five ultimates defying time so far, one is the broad jump forecast of 27 feet, 4.74 inches—a logical conclusion since Jesse Owens had done 26 feet, 8.75 inches and Hamilton figured that couldn't last forever. But Jesse's record still is on the books, the oldest one of all.

The other unsurpassed ultimates are 9.13 for the 100-yard dash, 10.06 for the 100-metre dash, 54 feet, 8.28 inches in the hop, step and jump and 1.47.35 for the 880-yard run.

But the 800-metre ultimate of 1.46.7 went by the boards and now stands at 1.45.7, so the 880 ultimate may not stand up much longer.

When Roger Bannister of Britain cracked the four-minute mile barrier in May of 1954, the classic ultimate dissolved. Hamilton felt the best a man could run the mile was four minutes, 1.46 seconds. Yet even Bannister's record of 3.59.4 stood only until Australia's John Landy got in his big kick in 3.58 at Turku, Finland, the following June.

Among other things, Hamilton failed to envision a 60-foot shot put or a seven-foot high jump. He put his shot put "ultimate" at 57 feet, one inch and the high jump at six feet, 11.22 inches.

But big Parry O'Brien, record-holder at 63 feet, 1¾ inches, regularly tops 60 feet in the shot. Charley Dumas now holds the high jump at seven feet, one-half inch.

And now the boys are tackling about a 16-foot pole vault, compared to the Hamilton "ultimate" of 15 feet, 1.8 inches and the world record of 15 feet, 7.75 set by Cornelius Warnerdam in 1942.

When Hamilton drew up his list 22 years ago, he said it was merely to spur his California track squad. However, he went into the subject so thoroughly, the "ultimates" were accepted widely for several years as perhaps the best a human being might expect.

But records are made to be broken, as the old saw insists. And the "ultimates" are proving as fragile as the records made previously by mortal men.

John V. Sigmund of St. Louis swam nonstop 292 miles down the Mississippi River from St. Louis to Caruthersville in 89 hours, 48 minutes, in July of 1940.

Speaking Briefly

Spokane Reaches Cup Final; Montreal Wins Hoop Crown

Spokane Flyers became the first United States team to win the Western Canada senior hockey championship last night when they defeated Fort William Beavers, 4-2, at Fort Wiliam to win their best-of-seven series, four games to two with one game tied.

The win paved the way for an international Allan Cup final for the Canadian title. The Flyers will play either Whitby or North Bay in a best-of-seven final.

Flyers had a tough time with the Beavers, who fought back twice to tie, the first time while they were shorthanded. Art Jones, Tic Beattie, John Zahara and Tom Hodges scored for Spokane, with Steve Black and Buck Forslund replying for Fort William.

Zahara broke a 2-2 tie in the third period and Hodges picked up the insurance goal on a play with Beattie and Dave Gordichuk.

BLUES TAKE TITLE: Montreal's Snowden YMHA Blues defeated St. Vital Bulldogs, 60-50, in Montreal last night to sweep their best-of-five Canadian senior men's basketball championship series in three straight games. Blues took the opener, 73-59, and won the second, 87-73 . . . Dave Charnley, 22-year-old London boilermaker, won the British Empire light-heavyweight boxing crown last night by outpointing former champion Joe Lucy in a bruising 15-rounder in London . . . New York Giants dropped four players from their roster yesterday, including outfielder-infielder Henry Thompson, a regular with the Giants since 1949 . . . Pittsburgh Pirates have called up 33-year-old southpaw Bob Kuzava from their Columbus farm club . . . President Conn Smythe admitted yesterday he has ideas about a successor to Hap Day as general-manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, but denied that he will take the job himself.

RAINIERS GET LOU: Kansas City Athletics have sold Lou Kretlow, 33-year-old right-hander, to the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League. The As paid a reported $90,000 to the Seattle club to get Kretlow and Joe Ginsberg in 1955 . . . Olympic champion Terry Spinks of England made a successful debut as a professional fighter in the flyweight division in London last night, stopping Jimmy Loughrey in the fourth round . . . B.C. Lions yesterday announced the signing of Philip Wright, 21, an all-conference tackle with West Texas State last year . . . Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings last night denied he is trading centre Alex Delvecchio to New York Rangers . . . Winnipeg Blue Bombers have signed John Joseph Michels, a highly-rated guard and linebacker formerly of Tennessee University.

Remember When:

Chicago Black Hawks, with Tommy Gorman as manager and coach, won their first Stanley Cup 23 years ago tonight by beating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 at Chicago, taking the final by three games to one. The Hawks took the cup only one more time since then, when they beat Toronto in 1938.

Allstate paid over
$125,000,000
in auto insurance claims in 1956!

After all, what really counts in auto insurance is how the company keeps its promise of protection. And the record of Allstate, the better value auto insurance company, speaks for itself!

Last year the Allstate Insurance Company paid over $125,000,000 to protect its policyholders. That's an average of over $10,000,000 every month! Important, too, is the fast, friendly way these claims were handled. And no wonder! Allstate's growing service organization now includes over 2,900 licensed agents and more than 9,500 other employees conveniently located in over 1,000 offices throughout the U. S. and Canada.

Convincing proof that, whatever happens, you're in good hands with Allstate!

—for the juiciest, most luscious pineapple ever put in cans, get Libby's. Comes only from Hawaii—from Libby's own plantations—bursting with mellow, sunny flavor that makes your mouth water! Guaranteed the finest you've tasted, or DOUBLE your money back. Yes, we're that enthusiastic!

—for 5 "luxury" fruits without peeling, buy Libby's Fruit Cocktail. Your favorite fruits: peaches, pears, pineapple, grapes, cherries. Delectable! You'll agree, or Libby's will refund DOUBLE YOUR MONEY. Just send them the labels.

Libby's Fruit Cocktail For icy fruit cups, and colorful desserts! 5 luxury fruits without peeling!

*Quick Glamour Dessert

Serve chilled Libby's Pineapple Slices, with Snowballs which you make this way: Bake small cupcakes from White Cake Mix, dip with fork in Fluffy Frosting to cover completely and roll in coconut. Easy and melting-good!

*Lemon Jellied Fruit Salad

Prepare lemon gelatin as package directs. When slightly thickened, fold in drained can Libby's Fruit Cocktail and ½ cup chopped nuts. Chill till firm, and serve with mayonnaise. Substitute juice for part of water when preparing gelatin.

5 "Easy-do" ideas

"Tomato Juice on the Rocks"

is a delightfully different appetizer, done this way: freeze Libby's Tomato Juice in ice cube trays. Rub edge of glasses with lemon, dip in chopped parsley, allow to dry. Fill with tomato juice cubes and chilled Libby's Tomato Juice. Compliment-winner! Libby's "gentle press" Tomato Juice is sweet and pure—Canada's favorite, by far!

"Hearty Beans 'n' Meat"

Sauté small pieces of left-over cooked meat with a little chopped onion, green pepper and celery until tender and golden. Add Libby's Deep-Browned Beans and a good dash of Libby's Catchup, and heat thoroughly. Delicious! Get lots of Libby's Deep-Browned Beans next time you shop!

"Dad's Favorite Spaghetti"

Brown ½ pound bulk ssausage, add 1 can drained mushrooms, minced onion and salt and pepper. Cook till onion is tender. Add 2 cans Libby's Spaghetti, and heat through. Then serve—and get set for compliments! The real flavor secret is in Libby's special Cheddar cheese sauce—and how men love it!

"Gold-topped Tomatoes"

Halve large tomatoes. Score surfaces in criss-crosses. Salt and pepper and spread with topping made by blending half Libby's Mustard and half mayonnaise (dash of celery salt is a nice addition). Broil till golden, and heated through (about 5 minutes in hot oven).

"Flavoring Tip"

Of all flavoring aids, Libby's Catchup is one of the most popular. Good cooks keep an extra bottle handy to their cooking area, and add it to stews, meat casseroles, chili, spaghetti, beans—even home-made soups! Try it! Libby's Catchup is pure tomato—spiced with restraint!

Libby's fruits are matchless! Double your money back if you don't agree!

'Why Aren't We?'

Recognition of Red China will be urged by Tom McEwan, editor of the Pacific Tribune, at a public meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street. Mr. McEwan visited Communist China last year and his topic will be "The New China is Awake—Why Aren't We?"

Civil Servants

Pay Hike Silence Resented

Strong resentment over government silence on pay increases for provincial civil servants this year was expressed at a meeting of approximately 400 members of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

Many of the pay-increase representations submitted for government consideration had been sanctioned by the civil service commission and still were ignored by the government, the meeting was told Monday night.

The branch unanimously passed a resolution recommending to the executive of the association "that all possible ways and means be investigated and followed through with the express purpose of expediting the raising of our salaries or wages to the level paid by better-class employers in this province."

Figures submitted to the meeting indicated that average provincial government salaries were $37.99 a month below B.C. industrial salaries and $10.48 below those in industry across Canada.

Don't Eye Birdcage

If you'd like a souvenir of British Columbia history, don't look hopefully at the burned-out "Birdcage."

City police are maintaining a round-the-clock watch over the ruins of this province's first parliament building, hard-hit by fire March 29.

Souvenir hunters and children who might be hurt in the ruins are being kept away from the structure.

Potatoes Like Fresh Bed

I've been preaching for a long time now the advantages which accrue when the ground is prepared a long time ahead of the actual planting or sowing time. Most vegetable crops do far better when the soil has been dug and left in the rough together for a while.

Potatoes, however, are the exception to the rule, and your seed spuds can go in as you dig, performing the digging and planting in one operation.

[illegible] deep mulching [illegible] to be put [illegible] of your spuds. [illegible] part [illegible] dug [illegible] in the top of the soil [illegible] the rows the [illegible]

If you sprouted your seed potatoes, using one of the methods I mentioned in this column earlier this year, the shoots emerging from the seed tubers should be short and stocky, and of a dark green color, all ready to make good growth.

If you want to g[illegible] [illegible] strongest shoots [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] difficult to [illegible]

In planting the seed potatoes it isn't necessary to stand them upright, as [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] dirt [illegible] the sprouts [illegible] the soil surface a [illegible] [illegible] apart.

A little complete fertilizer in the rows, such as O.K. Vigoro or I plants, will give a higher yield, but never scatter dry fertilizer over the tubers as you plant. The stuff is caustic, and will burn off the emerging sprouts. Cover the seed with a layer of your rough compost, half-decayed leaves, or manure first, then dust with fertilizer, [illegible]

Fluoridate Without a Vote Nanaimo Teachers Request

NANAIMO Fluoridation of the city water supply without a referendum vote was requested by Nanaimo District Teachers' Association Monday on the grounds that the dental condition of children in the area was "deplorable."

[illegible] out that council's hands were tied by [illegible] Municipal Act which state that a city council cannot fluoridate its water supply until three-fifths of the electorate signify their approval.

The association did not want a referendum "because referendums give the emotional mind [illegible] a chance to [illegible] the city with false statements and pamphlets which make people do not realize the facts."

Help Your Husband Stay Alive

A Little Hate Never Hurt Anyone

[illegible]

There is no doubt but that [illegible]

What if he starts telling [illegible] and he knows it. He seems to want to hurt you and how can he unless he has stopped loving you?

What if he understands every single thing you say and seems determined to pick [illegible]

He can hurt you that way and he knows it. He seems to want to hurt you and how can he unless he has stopped loving you?

One of the most basic but bewildering paradoxes of [illegible] is that the [illegible] you love someone the more trouble you are apt to [illegible] thing you hate them though usually only occasionally, usually only briefly. That's ambivalence. The ones from the old popular song "Some times I love you, some times I [illegible]

[illegible] Last when I [illegible] because I [illegible] the quarrel into one small package the whole Freudian principle of ambivalence.

There is all the difference in the world between [illegible] and [illegible] I know one long [illegible] screaming, at each other as as much a part of life as eating dinner. They fight they say [illegible] to get rid of all their hates so that he and she [illegible] to make up love making they add a little [illegible] as [illegible]

I find this approach extreme. I have a distaste for battles, I must confess, especially between husband and wife. But I have faced the fact that at least occasional battles may be essential to husbands' and wives' understanding each other.

[illegible] out [illegible] of rage. I'm a wife [illegible] with [illegible] have [illegible] explain [illegible] to [illegible] that have [illegible] and [illegible] hard [illegible] for a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

There'll be more fairy tales on TV as a result of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella."

CBS claims that 107,000,000 of the 175,000,000 people in the U.S. saw the show a week ago Sunday, and rating companies report that Cinderella beat Steve Allen 14-17.

Biggest effect is that people have juvet Shirley Temple out of retirement to host narrate a series of 20 one-hour fairy tales beginning with Pinocchio Sept. 29.

Producers Showcase plans four other fairy tales next season. Only other one chosen so far is Hans Brinker on NBC Christmas night with skaters Dick Button, Barbara Ann Scott and Tenley Hunter. Triple threatman Hunter is better known for his acting and singing.

Another "Spectacular" can be seen tonight. Gilbert and Sullivan's "Yeoman of the Guard" with Alfred Drake and Celeste Holm. Drake is the talented actor-singer who did "Kismet" and "Kiss Me Kate" and many more on Broadway but refuses to go to Hollywood unfortunately.

* * *

Norman Collins, the ex-BBC type who started Britain's new commercial TV setup has announced plans to establish a commercial radio network in Great Britain.

Collins was modest on the Light Program and BBC TV controller when he spoke about Lord over a points matter. He says the new radio network could be set up when the BBC charter runs in 1962 but hopes to win parliamentary approval before that.

The commercial TV network is already expected to gross $50,000,000 this year, almost twice the 1956 figure. Public meetings of all kinds are reporting attendance problems and support is growing for telecasts of parliamentary debates.

And here's an interesting fact. More TV series (Robin Hood, Buccaneers et al) are filmed in London than in New York.

"He's saying 'The sound portion of the program has been temporarily interrupted.'"

Today's Best

Keeping Up

'Frailty' Sells Cars

OTTAWA (CP) — The desire to "keep up with the Joneses" is perhaps the major reason why the automobile has its present unique position in North American society, says the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

In a special study for the Gordon economic commission, the company had this to say about the prestige factor in automobile sales:

"As income levels rise, more people are permitted the indulgence of non-economic desires on a scale hitherto reserved only for the wealthy.

"The adroitness with which the North American motor industry has capitalized on this national frailty has resulted in making the automobile market peculiarly susceptible to advertising pressures and styling in a manner unknown in the rest of the world."

PARKSVILLE EAST WATERWORKS DISTRICT

INVITATION TO TENDER
CONSTRUCTION OF A WATERWORKS SYSTEM

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Waterworks System" will be received at the home of the Chairman of Trustees, Mr. W. M. Drummond, R.R. 1, Parksville, B.C., until 4 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, on April 26, 1957.

Work consists of installing approximately 5,000 lineal feet of 8" and 6" water mains and construction of a pumping station and infiltration gallery.

Copies of the Plans and Specifications may be obtained by a bona-fide tenderer upon a deposit of ten dollars ($10.00), from the office of W. Allan Kerr, P. Eng., Consulting Civil Engineer, 542 Bastion Street, Victoria, B.C. Each tender shall be accompanied by a certified cheque in the amount of ten per cent (10%) of the tender price plus an undertaking of Surety signed by a Surety Company in the amount of ten per cent (10%) of the tender price.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

W. M. DRUMMOND, Chairman,
Parksville East Waterworks District,
R.R. 1, Parksville, B.C.

Ministers Understudy Colleagues

Education Minister L. R. Peterson became understudy to four of his cabinet colleagues through a series of orders-in-council made public yesterday.

Mr. Peterson will be acting minister of industrial development when the minister, Attorney-General Robert Bonner, is absent, and similarly will stand in for Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood and Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks will be stand-in for Mines Minister W. K. Kiernan and for Works Minister W. N. Chant, and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black for Mr. Wicks as acting railways minister and for Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Sooke School Chairman Defends Plan

Any dissatisfaction with school curriculum or methods of financing should not interfere with a referendum vote, says Sooke school board chairman John Williams.

Less than 20 persons attended the meeting Monday at Milnes Landing to discuss the $535,000 school construction referendum. Voting will be in all elementary schools and Shirley Community Hall Saturday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Mr. Williams defended the covered play areas planned for several schools in the three-year construction plan. He said few schools in the area have basements and the children need an activity spot.

London to See Canadian Show

LONDON (CP) — Canada will nose out Australia for the distinction of being the first Commonwealth drama group to appear on the West End stage.

The Crest Theatre group of Toronto is to present J. B. Priestley's "The Glass Cage" at Piccadilly Theatre starting April 26. Four days later, an Australian company opens at the New Theatre in a play that has taken Australia by storm, "The Summer of the Seventeenth Doll."

Venezuela has announced plans for absorbing 1,500 Hungarian refugees from camps in Australia.

Mine Act Criticism 'Only Half the Story'

A Vancouver lawyer who strongly criticized new B.C. mining legislation "told only half the story," Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said yesterday. Mr. Kiernan said he would tell the rest of the story himself shortly.

The lawyer, James C. Ralston, said in a letter to Premier Bennett that the legislation was "secretly prepared and rushed through without notice to those interested in mining" and would stifle prospecting and exploration.

The legislation abolishes the system of crown-granted mineral claims and substitutes a leasing plan, and institutes a 10-per-cent tax on iron ore production.

'Y' Adaptable Says Official

The "Y" is constantly adapting its program to better serve the needs of the public, Donald Brundage of Toronto, national adult secretary of the YMCA, said here yesterday.

Mr. Brundage, on a whirlwind tour of YMCAs throughout the western provinces, arrived in Victoria on Sunday and left for Edmonton yesterday.

Red 'Parasites' Have It Tough

MOSCOW (AP) — The Estonian republic has ordered sentences of two to five years of forced work "at a place of exile" for vagrants. The newspaper Soviet Estonia said exile can be voted by citizens' meetings. The paper said the plan was aimed at intensifying the struggle against anti-social parasitic elements."

PARIS — Queen Elizabeth disclosed yesterday that Prince Philip has a weakness for toy trains. Presented at Paris' city hall with a working model of the city's subway as a gift for Prince Charles, she joked to officials: "This is rather complicated for him, but it will amuse his father."

HOLLYWOOD—The Hollywood women's press club offered as a door prize for its annual ball a date with a rising young star who's the kind of girl you'd love to take home to your mother—if you dared"—Jane Mansfield.

* * *

WINNIPEG — Dr. Dennis Harmer and his wife Kathleen have been charged with assault after a weekend brawl in a rooming house in which the landlady, three policemen and a police matron were injured. Dr. Harmer was the man arrested in rural Manitoba three years ago and hauled to Winnipeg to pay $73.20 for a $2 parking ticket he'd been trying to settle for weeks.

Seaway Cost Doubled

$133,000,000

WASHINGTON (UP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway will cost $133,000,000 to build, or twice as much as originally estimated, Seaway Administrator Lewis G. Castle said yesterday.

Inflation, design changes and unexpected construction work have added some $67,000,000 to estimated cost, Castle told the house public works committee.

The U.S. portion of the seaway at first was expected to cost $88,000,000 but this was pared to $66,000,000 by elimination of plans for a canal and lock at Point Rockaway, N.Y.

BROKE LOOSE

The 1954 law setting up the Seaway Corporation authorized it to issue $105,000,000 in bonds to the U.S. treasury. Until last summer, Castle said, it was thought the U.S. costs would be well within that limit.

"Then, everything broke loose on us," he said.

While first construction bids were lower than estimates, he said, the second round went over estimates and wiped out savings from the earlier bids. In addition, the corporation had to take over dredging and navigation work it had expected would be done by power interests and the coast guard.

'A TOWN LIKE ALICE'

Briton's Won't Bet On Lottery Bonds

LONDON (UP)—The British people, who do more gambling than any other in the world, have shown disappointing aloofness to the government's lottery bond scheme. They would rather bet on football and racing.

Harold Macmillan, now prime minister but then head of the treasury, expected a big response when he introduced the previous bond plan with the slogan "The Subscriber Cannot Lose."

The bonds sell for one pound ($2.80). They bear no interest but are always payable on demand. The attraction is that every three months the government will hold a drawing of winning serial numbers paying up to £1,000 ($2,800).

It got off to a big start with some £48,500,000 ($135,800,000) worth sold in the opening month of November. But after that, sales skidded until they were only £2,100,000 ($5,880,000) in March.

It does not shape up well against the estimated £600,000,000 the British spend yearly gambling on horse racing, dog racing, football pools and other wagers.

One reason for the slump is that the plan was so set up that the first drawing is not to be held until this June 1. An electronic brain will be used then to pick winning serial numbers and indicate the amount of the prizes.

The drop in sales has been so severe that there is not enough work for the 1,050 girl clerks handling the issues. One newspaper said the girls spend their time doing crossword puzzles.
